TOMORROW SHALL BE MY DANCING DAY

Harp 1

Harp Duo

Traditional English
Arr. Regina Zortman Chihak

©2021 Regina Zortman Chihak

From Regina Chihak: Although the lyrics of this song are Christmas related, I've always felt the joyful tune could be played in other seasons since it is not known as a standard Christmas carol.

Regina Zortman Chihak lives in La Crescent, Minnesota, and attended music school at the University of Northern Iowa. She was a flute major in college where her theory teacher was also the harp professor and first introduced her to the harp. Regina entered the harp world when her children were grown and now belongs to a marvelous harp circle who motivate her to create arrangements for them. She credits her husband, who was the harp professor's graduate assistant, with helping her learn Finale.

TOMORROW SHALL BE MY DANCING DAY

Harp 2

Harp Duo

Traditional English
Arr. Regina Zortman Chihak

©2021 Regina Zortman Chihak

Tomorrow Shall Be My Dancing Day, Harp 2—Page 2

